I called Kevin when I got the email message and asked if there was a WD lead for compiling comments, and he said you were compiling for the division. If that's not accurate, I apologize.

Linda,

No one has been assigned to take the lead on providing comments. I'm not really sure who the most appropriate program would be. I realized that I didn't include watersheds on the email, so I'm going to check with them. What do you think?

Krista

Thanks. I will have Katie, Kathy and Tom take a look at the plan. Has anyone been assigned to compile comments within WD? I see the Corps wants comments by 2/25.

Hi Linda and Katie,

the 2015 wild rice study for the twin (sandy) lakes is out. This year, the corps is asking for comment in advance of some 2016 planning they are going to undertake with USS. We don't recall being asked to comment in the past.

This is the first year that USS has not contracted with the Tribes to do the monitoring. From 2010 through 2014 USS has contracted with Bois Forte/1854 Treaty Authority to do the monitoring required by the Corps. The treaty authority is continuing the program without funds from USS.

You might want to share with Linda Holst.

This was a 404 permit condition for the MInnetac west progression -

You shall submit, within 120 days of permit issuance, a Twin Lakes Wild Rice Restoration Opportunities Plan ("Plan") evaluate and identify implementation alternatives to the reestablishment of wild rice beds within Little Sandy and Sandy Lakes, collectively known as the Twin Lakes.

But I've never been given the opportunity to review.

It's the monitoring for the twin (sandy) lakes which are receiving waters on the east side of the minntac tailings basin

This is not something that I have heard about. It might be the U.S. Steel mitigation site?

Is this something we've commented on before, do you know? I didn't realize this went out for comment in the past. I'll ask Darren.

CLASSIFICATION: UNCLASSIFIED

Good morning,

ED_005586A_00001627-00002

The 2015 Twin Lakes Wild Rice Restoration Annual Report is attached for your review. Thank you once again for reviewing the document. I hope to provide comments to US Steel in preparation for planning 2016 activities, and would like to ask that your comments and recommendations be provided to the Corps by February 25.

Please feel free to give me a call if you have questions.

Sincerely,

Doug Bruner
